KLAMATH FALLS, OREGON
THURSDAY, JUNE 17, 1915

AND STOP AT
KLAMATH FALLS

WANT IT SETTLED

AFTER years of internal dissension in county and city affairs, and just when the prospects were brightening up for a period of peace and sane business the recent unfortunate disturbance in city politics has had the effect of awakening the citizens of Klamath Falls to a point where they are not only demanding the settlement of the threatened unsettled condition, but from expressions heard on all sides, intend to insist that this condition be remedied at the earliest possible moment.

The temper of the people would indicate that they are tired and disgusted with the petty squabbles and quarrels which are threatened and which are not only doing great harm to the business of the city but are giving Klamath Falls an unenviable reputation to prospective settlers and people on the outside.

As Councilman Doty warned the members of the council at the last meeting: "The people are working and there's going to be an election." The suggestion that there is no hurry about filling the vacancy in the office of mayor has met with little favor. In fact, it is stated that the council will be informed that in the wish of the people that an election be held at once, and if this is not done the proper steps will be taken to fill the vacancy by initiative.

The city needs a good practical, successful business man to take hold of the reins and straighten out the affairs of the municipality. One who is big enough, and broad enough, to command the unanimous co-operation and support of the people of the entire city and who will place the interests of the city ahead of his own personal ambitions.

Business conditions in Klamath county are improving in all lines.
There is more employment and more money in sight and prospects are good for the future. Business men of the city are not overjoyed at the present prospect of having their first chance in years at real prosperity interfered with by the business of the city remaining unsettled all summer.
That is one reason why there is a demand for an early election and the settlement of the present trouble.

AIN'T THAT SO?

We've reached a point in our career, Which greatly pains our civic pride.
For things have reached a crisis here;
Our wits are very sadly tried.
We built a brand new city home,
And fixed it up as neat as wax;
And then our new officials came And acted just like lumber jacks.

Within those great expensive walls,
On which the paint was scarcely dry, They rent the air with awful howls,
And let the little cuss words fly.
Our great judiciary head Has took his "playthings" all away, And leaving, very plainly said He didn't think he cased to play.

And if we have no cops at all We surely must admit, of course, The prestige of the town will fall Because we haven't any "Force."
And with "His Honor" out and down, We'll have to state, if we are fair,
That this is just a "one horse town," Because we really have no "mare."

Scattered Shots

THE CITY OF Klamath Falls is receiving a great deal of advertising these days in some of the metropolitan newspapers over our civic muddle. Wonder if it is not similar to some of the family scandals that are abroad?

A VISITING LAWYER to this city, who had an opening in view in an office here, said, after looking the situation over, that it was not a family drama. Perhaps if four policemen were hired and the bigger questions attached he might have formed a different opinion.

Some will say here is a great sur-ficiency of the legal element present anyway. There is always room for a good man, and it is certainly not a bood for our city.

LET'S YOU AND I be out at the Chamber of Commerce boost meeting, anyway. It might be a first step towards bettering conditions. It can be, Mr. Man, Mr. Business Man, Mr.
Laborer, Mr. Minister, Mr. Father.

THERE WAS A man in this city recently, a business man, looking over the situation with the idea of investing. "Too much scrapping for me," was his verdict. Can we put up a decent defense?

STOP! LOOK! LISTEN! Does it not stand to reason that if there is harmony and co-operation that business conditions and community life will be better? And that progress will be made?

Can't we compromise? Can't we co-operate? Can't we sacrifice some of our petty troubles and go after some of the real problems that are confronting this city today?

The right man in the office of mayor of the city; the co-operation of the council; the organization of the people of Klamath Falls in their clubs, societies and associations for the common good will turn the trick.

Let every man take it upon himself, every man that claims to be a citizen, consider it his duty to take an interest and to work for his home, get out and start immediately working for a real honest civic pride. Wonders would be accomplished.

And do not forget that Friday night is a good time to start—show your pride, your interest and good will. Be there.

UPPER LAKE NOTES

Captain Wickstrom now has his piledriver on the site of Johnson's new mill, and will be driving piling for the foundation in a few hours.

Master Lloyd Fennell is now employed in the Ewauna box factory.
Lloyd is no bigger than a pound of soap, but he is not afraid of work.

Some very young Buena Vista Ladies went across the lake a few days ago, pulled off their shoes and stockings, leaving them some distance down the shore. Some mean, degraded, pugilistic hooded thief swiped them, and the little girls had to come home bare-footed. Hanging would be too good for a thief like that.

The new railway spur at the Pelican Bay mill will be a great convenience in shipping lumber from the mill. Cars can now be switched either way, and save a lot of time.

We are informed that Captain Jas.
Douglas will shortly install an 80-horsepower engine in the launch Empress, and will also run two auto stages between Harriman Lodge and Klamath Falls. Mr. Douglas is the enterprising warden of the D. P. Donk domain on the shore of Balls Bay.

On account of a broken belt wheel, the Long Lake mill will be shut down for a few days.

On almost every calm day just now mirages can be seen in phantom form on the smooth face of Great Klamath Lake.

The steamer Klamath is laid up for repairs. She will be out of commission for perhaps a week.

Again we are facing a crisis in municipal affairs; again we are walking dangerously near the Stygian shore; and again we spring from duty's bastion and position that a lady should stand on the bridge as pilot of the municipal wheel, warden and mayor of Klamath Falls.

Dr. J. Grant Lyman Was Well Known in Klamath

Dispatches from Boston recently announced that Dr. J. Grant Lyman, stock swimmer, whose escapades including the police of San Francisco and Los Angeles in 1911 attracted national attention because of the aid given him by Miss Maud Lehman, an heiress, has recently been in Boston with the same beautiful young woman.

Dr. Lyman was arrested at Lakeview on his way to Canada, and was brought here, where a hearing was had before United States Commissioner Richardson, after his escape from a hospital at Oakland. He was taken to Portland from here.

When brought to this city he created considerable excitement in front of the court house by calling for help and demanding habeas corpus proceedings.

Warren A. Brown, curb broker, has had the police of Boston searching for Dr. Lyman on the charge of stealing a $3,700 check and other funds of a firm of which Lyman succeeded in becoming a partner.

Dr. Lyman, it has since been learned, lived with the woman identified as Miss Lehman, and introduced her in Boston as his wife. Under the names of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Willis they occupied a luxurious suite at the Hotel Harvard. Later they went to live in a fashionable bungalow home in Beverly. Dispatches from Boston said the clerks at the Harvard Hotel and other persons were certain in their identification of Maud Lehman as "Mrs. Willis." The reported identification is all the more surprising because Maud Lehman was announced to have become the bride of Edgar M.

ARANT TURNED DOWN BY JUDGE

MEDFORD PAPER STATES THAT CHIEF JUSTICE HAS SETTLED CRATER LAKE PARK CASE IN FAVOR OF STEELS

(Medford Mail-Tribune)

W. F. Arant's efforts to oust Will G. Steele as superintendent of Crater Lake Park and reinstate himself have resulted in failure. Arant, who was former superintendent, was removed for cause by Secretary Franklin K.
Lane two years ago, and refused to vacate the office. It took the United States marshal and a score of deputies to eject him. Arant claimed that his office came under civil service rules, and since then he has regularly demanded his pay as superintendent, and brought suit for reinstatement and back pay.

Justice Stafford of the District of Columbia supreme court Saturday passed upon the case. The court finds that Arant was not within the classified civil service, not having been appointed after examination, but being a personal appointee of the secretary of the interior, and therefore subject to removal at the will of the secretary.

Justice Stafford, who ruled against Arant, is the same judge before whom Binger Herman was tried on charge of destroying his letter books when retiring from the office of land commissioner, and H. P. Gately, Arant's attorney, is Herman's son-in-law.
Gately gave notice of appeal.

Arant Camp, in the Crater Lake National Park named after former superintendent Arant of Klamath Falls, has been officially changed by the department of the interior to Anne Springs, and will be so designated. This is the last link that connected the Klamath Falls man.

The forest service is co-operating with fifty-four railroads, mining companies and cities in making tests of wooden ties, timbers, poles, piling and paving blocks which have been given preservative treatment.
